REDEFINING
EXPERIENCES

WHY WE SHOULD EXPERIENCE ALL THAT WE'VE INHERITED

If the past teaches us one thing, it's that it is never truly gone.

It lives with us in our present, evolving us, preparing us for the future.

That's why our past is such a wonderful present for us to take into the future.

As the oldest living civilization, we are fortunate to have inherited such a rich and glorious past with a treasure-trove of culture, heritage and nature.

The magnificent palaces where royalty once lived.

The imposing forts where great battles were fought.

The rich forests, teeming with exotic wildlife, tucked away in the lap of nature.

The villages where life refuses to bow down to the modern way of living.

The mountains we've scaled.

The seas and oceans we've explored.

These are what we've inherited.

At WelcomHeritage, we keep them alive.

So you can experience, relive and celebrate all that you have inherited.

Welcome to your glorious past.

At WelcomHeritage, we offer guests the most alluring nature & wellness retreats all across India, each with a touch of unique regional flavour. People can just drive down to their nearest WelcomHeritage nature & wellness resort in India for a one-of-a-kind holiday experience.

Wildlife Resorts

WelcomHeritage boasts of a collection of secluded and serene wilderness retreats to discover our country's rich wildlife. At a WelcomHeritage wildlife resort, we help our guests to escape the chaos and maddening sound of the cities and stay amidst the soothing sounds of Mother Earth, and feel closer to nature.

Goa

One of the last colonial strongholds of India, Goa still retains a unique Portuguese flavour that is apparent the second one arrives. Unique cuisine, stunning architecture and the nation's most iconic beaches provide the perfect backdrop for India's most vibrant artistic, musical, and cultural scene. For those looking for dynamic nightlife, or those looking for a serene beach getaway, or something in between, Goa offers a massive spectrum of experiences for visitors to indulge in during their stay.

Gujarat

Gujarat is often highlighted as one of India's major industrial hubs, but is also a hotbed of culture. Owing to its location on the Arabian sea, the culture and flavour of Gujarat has spread throughout the sub-continent and beyond ancient trade routes. The region is best known for its rich, vibrant and colourful festivals. These include celebrations of Navratri, where the iconic Dandiya Raas dance featuring colourful batons is a must, and Makar Sankranti, a religious festival that is often celebrated by flying large, colourful kites – a tradition exemplified by the International Kite Festival held in Ahmedabad.

WelcomHeritage Mani Mansion, Ahmedabad

Shantikunj Society, Paldi Cross Roads,
Ahmedabad - 380006, Gujarat, India

WelcomHeritage Mani Mansion is a heritage property that has been refurbished to match the modern day demands of an urban stay. The Haveli, built by legendary social worker and acclaimed businessman Manibhai Dalal in 1923, is also an important part of the evolution of the culture, history, and lineage of the city of Ahmedabad.

Haryana

Once part of the state of East Punjab, Haryana was carved into its own state in 1966 on linguistic lines. The culture and cuisine of Haryana shares a lot of similarities with the region of Punjab, yet always with a unique spin. The bond between the states is most clear in their shared capital city – Chandigarh. Other major cities in the state include Gurugram, part of the Delhi National Capital Region and one of the most dynamic hubs of economic activity in the nation, and Kurukshetra, a city known as the “Land of the Bhagavad Gita” for its legendary lineage dating back to antiquity. With scenic nature, long historical lineage, a strong base of agriculture and some of the most modern urban centres in the nation, Haryana is truly a state of varied experiences for every traveller.

WelcomHeritage Judges Court, Pragpur

Dist. Kangra Pragpur Himachal Pradesh - 177107, India

WelcomHeritage Judge's Court provides another dimension of fame to Kangra, that of a heritage property inside Pragpur heritage village. The landmark building was built during the First World War by Justice Sir Jai Lal between the years 1914 and 1918 and is spread over 10 acres of land. The admirable Indo-European architectural scheme, with its modern upgrades, still maintains a pleasantly medieval vibe. One of the best Pragpur Hotels, this is the perfect destination to forget your hectic lifestyle and connect with the soul of a time long gone.

Jammu and Kashmir

It's not hard to see why Jammu and Kashmir is often described as the "Switzerland of India" with breath-taking mountain views, lush nature and unique culture. World famous Kashmiri shawls and apple orchards draw many tourists along with the stunning scenery of the region's numerous mountain passes and valleys. In addition, religious pilgrimage sites such as Vaishno Devi and Amarnath also draw large numbers annually to pay their respects. The state is also home to Gulmarg, not only one of the finest ski resorts in India but the site of the world's highest green golf course.

Karnataka

For lovers of music, culture, and history, Karnataka is known as the place where grand empires, ancient musical traditions, and exquisite artforms are born. But it is also a place of spectacular natural beauty. Some of the oldest Jain and Hindu temples in the entire subcontinent are located in the state, making it a must visit place for those interested in both religion and history. The sublime beauty of Carnatic music, a tradition that stretches back centuries, traces its roots to Karnataka, which remains a cultural hub for the artform. For nature lovers, stunning scenery of valleys, waterfalls, and much more await. And of course, the world famous regal Mysore Palace attracts all those who love to experience the regal side of life.

Punjab

Punjab is often highlighted as one of the most vibrant states in the nation. The region is renowned for its colourful culture and delectable cuisine, originating the concept of dhabas. The “Land of 5 Rivers” is a major centre of agriculture, yet its urban centres and royal history create a unique diversity of experiences for visitors. Many examples of pre-independence architecture from the princely states survive to this day, creating a unique link to the nation’s history. The serene pace of life in rural areas is another well-known aspect of the culture of the state, that many tourists from India and abroad come to experience in unique “farm stays”.

Tamil Nadu

Tamil Nadu's location, on the southern tip of the Indian Peninsula, has historically made it a crucial nexus for trade and culture. The Bay of Bengal and the Indian Ocean linked the region with the world, making it a crucial stronghold for many empires, including the “Three Great Empires” of Indian Antiquity – the Chera, Chola, and Pandyan empires. This rich historical legacy is visible in its grand architecture, ancient temples and unique culture. Housing the Eastern Ghats, the Nilgiri Mountains, and the Meghamalai Hills, the natural beauty of Tamil Nadu makes for a breath-taking visit for every tourist.
